

SWASTHYA SWARAJ

Tribal Health Fellowship

An experience offered by Swasthya Swaraj for those who are looking to explore, and be enriched by working in the challenging field of tribal health

PURPOSE

The idea of Tribal Health Fellowship is born out of our experience of working on tribal health issues in low resource settings. It is an unique initiative in the domain of comprehensive primary healthcare- ethical, equitable, affordable, involving the tribal community, and empowering them for a meaningful participation in healthcare.

WHO CAN APPLY?

Doctors, of all levels of experience, who are passionate about working for the underprivileged and are open to learn and unlearn. Preference is given to those who have the willingness and ability to live and work in a poor geographic terrain and are ready to step away from their comfort zones. Applications start from December 2021.

STRUCTURE

A twelve month paid fellowship program that will provide avenues for structured and experiential learning. The fellow will be mentored by two senior experts from the domain of healthcare and will be guided to undertake research in tribal health issues. The fellow will also be supported to visit and explore one additional ethical and equitable primary healthcare initiative in tribal area within India for minimum two weeks.

OTHER FEATURES

Academic institutional collaboration with St John's Medical College, Bengaluru.

Opportunity for community based research on unique health issues in tribal health.
